

Erin Bailey, MS, CRA

Erin Bailey is the Chief Financial Officer for the Clinical and Translational Science Institute (CTSI) at the University at Buffalo. She has worked as a departmental research administrator at the University at Buffalo since 1997. Prior to her current role, she was the Associate Director for the Primary Care Research Institute, Department of Family Medicine at the University at Buffalo. In addition, she spent 15 years as the senior research administrator at the University at Buffalo School of Social Work. Erin has extensive experience in research administration for sponsored agreements, and is on faculty at Emmanuel College teaching Financial Research Administration. Erin has put together training programs for research administrators within the University and as well as outside institutions. In her current role, Erin is responsible for administering and/or facilitating all of the administrative aspects of sponsored research and fiscal management which includes fiscal oversight of all CTSI accounts which includes all activities relating to pre-award and post-award duties. She is the recipient the University at Buffalo's Chancellor's Award for her continued commitment to deliver excellence, one of the highest honors at the University.

Erin has been an active member of the National Council of University Administrators (NCURA) since 2005 serving as a member of the Region II Program Committee (Co-Chair the of the Region II 2013 meeting, Chair of the Region II/Region III 2014 spring meeting,) as a faculty member for Region II Professional Development Committee, Treasurer-elect for Region II in 2013, Treasurer in 2014 and Chair-elect in 2015 and Chair 2017. She is a 2011 graduate of the NCURA Leadership Development Institute, was Chair and Co-Chair of the NCURA Departmental Community, and is currently a participant in the NCURA Executive Leadership Program. She has presented workshops and sessions for the NCURA National meetings as well as FRA/PRA and has co-authored several publications.

Erin received her CRA credentials in 2009 and her Master of Science in Management with a focus on Research Administration from Emmanuel College.