

Tim Schailey is currently employed as the Director of Research Administration within Thomas Jefferson University. His current position requires him to oversee all of the pre-award and non-financial aspects of post-award research administration; however, his overall experience within the profession also afforded him opportunities to manage the financial post-award aspects of the profession as well. He has been involved with NCURA since 2006, and has attended NCURA-sponsored meetings both nationally and regionally where he recognizes the benefits/knowledge he was able to absorb from his colleagues at those meetings. In an effort to give back to the organization, Tim has served as a member of the Region II Program Committee in 2012, 2013, 2014, 2015, 2016, 2017, the Departmental Committee from 2011 - 2014 (appointed to Co-Chair in 2013 and served as Chair in 2014), and the regional Professional Development Committee since its conception in 2013 until assuming the role of Chair in 2017. Additionally, he served as Treasurer-elect for Region II in 2014, Treasurer in 2015 and Chair-elect in 2016. Currently, he is Chair of the Region where he serves as the chief executive officer and is empowered to conduct activities in consultation with the regional steering committee. Aside from his participation in several regional committees' and serving within various regional leadership positions, Tim has also authored and co-authored several publications, and served as a presenter at regional and national meetings. He received his Master of Science degree in Management with a specialization in Research Administration from Emmanuel College, Boston, MA where he is also an adjunct faculty member within their Research Administration curriculum. Similarly, he is also an adjunct faculty member within Thomas Jefferson University's Clinical Research Administration program. He also earned a Bachelor of Business Administration degree from Temple University. Prior to establishing a career for himself within this profession, Tim also acquired a wealth of experience working within the association management and financial services industries.
